

Mosaic

A Global Live-Learn Community

Do you love to travel?

Do you enjoy getting to know new people and trying new things?

Do you long for your education to intersect with your reality?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, Mosaic might just be the perfect opportunity for you.

The Mosaic residences are communities where students with a passion for other cultures and new experiences are intentionally placed with students who have come to TWU from around the world. They are places where deep friendships are built through shared experiences, laughter, and meaningful learning. These dorms offer the same programming as any other dorm (dorm-dates, rec sports, dorm meetings, etc.), what makes them unique is the dynamic blend of truly amazing people! Mosaic quickly becomes a true home-away-from-home; time and time again these communities are found to be the most united, family-like dorms on campus.

A few reflections from past residents:

➤ Living in this residence has been a very rich experience. I have been challenged, in a good way, to look at my own culture in a different way, to be open to new experiences, and to enjoy and value the uniqueness of each individual.

(Kelsey Dyck – 1st year student)

➤ Being a part of this community opens your eyes to different perspectives and causes you to reflect on your own views about life and the world. It has challenged me to grow in patience, selflessness, and communication, but has been really fun and rewarding as well. It is beautiful to watch God pursue the hearts of those in our dorm who aren't believers as well!

(Brittany Lawrence – 1st year student)

"From the smell of exotic foods being cooked by my dormmates on electric barbeques in the lounge, to the free language lessons everyday just from hanging out, this residence experience is nothing less than a complete and total blast. Who knew that after one year of university, I would have friends from every continent and an insatiable addiction to Kimchi? I wouldn't give up my international dorm experience for the world." (Hunter Martinson – 2nd year student)
