TRAVEL STUDY TO

OTTAWA

BUSINESS - MAY 2021

Learn first-hand about our Canadian legal system

We are tentatively planning this exciting law trip to Ottawa (subject to possible health and travel restrictions). You'll get to stay in the historic Laurentian Leadership Centre (LLC) and visit numerous legal sites around the nation's capital, such as the Supreme Court of Canada, Parliament, Canadian Intellectual Property Office, and others. This trip will also include visits to numerous cultural sites around Ottawa. This year only twelve students will be able to go on the travel study, so please apply by no later than December 8th.

COURSES

BUSI 346 TR LAW FOR THE BUSINESS MANAGER

This course follows up on BUSI 245 and gives you the knowledge and skills to manage a number of business areas that have potential legal risk. Learn all about sale of goods, agency, bailment, insurance and guarantees, negotiable instruments, employment and human rights, intellectual property, real property, mortgages, partnerships, the nature and operations of corporations, credit transactions, and government regulation of business.

PREREQUISITES: BUSI 245.

POLS 493 TR LAW, PUBLIC POLICY, AND CULTURAL CHANGE

Learn about historical and contemporary debate in Canada on what constitutes culture and our contemporary cultural challenges; how Christians interface with that culture and the role of organized religion; Christian critique of culture and the methodologies and perspectives of various entities that seek to influence culture. You will observe first-hand how Canadian culture is formed within the Ottawa setting in their discipline.

(satisfies IDIS 410 requirement)

Planning for the 2021 Ottawa Travel Study is tentative and will be reviewed in February and again in April based on the development of COVID-19 in Canada generally and in the Ottawa area.

INSTRUCTORS

KEVIN SAWATSKY, J.D.

Kevin Sawatsky has a Bachelor of commerce and Master of Business Administration from the University of British Columbia and a Juris Doctor from the University of Victoria.
